22ND ANNUAL UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH SYMPOSIUM

Join the Cary Institute for our 22nd Annual REU Symposium, where eleven undergraduate students will present the results of their summer research projects. Funded by the National Science Foundation, the Cary Institute's REU program attracts students from all over the country.

Working with a mentor, participants craft a project, carry out research, analyze data, and present their findings. This summer, projects have included explorations of invasive forest pests, biofuel production, Hudson River freshwater tidal swamps, and avian communication.

The event will be held in our auditorium, at 2801 Sharon Turnpike (Route 44) in Millbrook, N.Y. For more information, call (845) 677-7600 x326 or e-mail zolnikp@caryinstitute.org.
